

The Department of Epidemiology's SEAL Team provides students with experience in applied epidemiology through methods training and field assignments at state and local health departments.

Eligibility requirements: Graduate students* in any department in the School of Public Health who will not graduate before Fall 2026 are eligible to apply.

Accepted students must enroll in:

- EPI 594 in Winter 2026 (2 credits)
- EPI 594 in Fall 2026 (1 credit)

In Winter, we will meet on Tuesdays from 9:00-10:20. You will need to be available during this time to be eligible for the SEAL Team. In Fall, we will meet on Fridays from 9:00-10:20.

Accepted students will have the option to take:

- EPI 506 in Spring 2026 (2 credits)
- EPI 594 in Spring 2026 (1 credit)
- EPI 594 in Summer 2026 (1 credit)

Regardless of enrollment in the optional courses, SEALs can complete field assignments through Spring, Summer, and Fall quarters.

Please direct questions regarding the SEAL Team to the SEAL Team Manager, Nicole Marshall (schwalbe@uw.edu), and questions regarding the application process to SEAL Team Director, Janet Baseman (jbaseman@uw.edu).

*The SEAL Team is open to matriculated students enrolled in state-funded graduate degree programs within the School of Public Health. Students enrolled in fee-based degree programs are not eligible to apply.
